

Dear Colleagues,

VetEd 2019 International Symposium
Registration and abstract submission – NOW OPEN!

Pre-Conference workshops - July 3rd 2019
Main two-day conference - July 4th and 5th 2019

Now in its 10th year, the Veterinary Schools Council Veterinary Education Symposium (VetEd) on teaching, learning and educational scholarship is a forum to share and discuss innovative and effective teaching practices, as well as explore findings from teaching-related research and evaluation.

On the theme of 'Today's Learners, Tomorrow's Professionals', this year's two-day main conference will showcase the work of academic and professional service staff, and students, across a range of veterinary education teaching and learning topics.

Organised by the Royal Veterinary College, University of London, UK, on behalf of the Veterinary Schools Council, UK, the conference will be held at Rothamsted Research in their purpose-built conference centre.

Abstract submission for the symposium is now open!
Submissions must be received by 15th March 2019
The submission form can be accessed here.

For more information, please see the VetEd 2019 Symposium website here

Professor Ayona Silva-Fletcher
On behalf of the Conference Committee VetEd 2019